Statewide

Annual Renewal of Revocable Permits on the Islands of Hawaii, Maui, Molokai, Kauai and Oahu

BACKGROUND:

On October 27, 2006, under agenda item D-1, the Board approved, as amended, the continuation of the revocable permits listed in Exhibit A, on a month-to-month basis for another one-year period up to December 31, 2007, except for permits that are in arrears of rental payment for more than 60 days and/or have been approved for forfeiture by a separate Board action. With the amended Board Action, the Board also approved a nominal 3% increase in the rents for permits under the Commercial, Industrial or Baseyard/Storage category, to reflect the rising trend in rents for these types of properties.

Previously, on April 22, 2005, the Land Board, under agenda item D-17, approved methodologies to review rents of revocable permits for future years. The Land Board was presented with a variety of alternative methodologies by which to review the revocable permits statewide. In summary, Method 1 involved sampling at least 10% of each type of RP on each island. Method 2 involved conducting individual appraisals, if necessary, of each permit. Method 3 considered the use of the Consumer Price Index to apply adjustments to the rent. Method 4 involved interviews and research. Method 5 considered a periodic scheduled review based on the permit type or use. Staff then evaluated each methodology, as shown below from an excerpt from the Board submittal on April 22, 2005, agenda item D-17, and recommended the Board approve a blend of various methods specific to each appraisal type, for the reasons repeated below.

EVALUATION OF ALTERNATIVES

Staff believes Methods 1 and 2 are time consuming and should only be considered where necessary. These methods require substantial staff resources for research, analysis, and possibly travel. Currently, the Appraisal Section is comprised of one staff appraiser. Method 3, using the indices, would not address rural and outer island properties appropriately. The CPI and most other indices focus on large metropolitan areas and may not accurately reflect changes in land values.

Method 4 is both a feasible and reasonable alternative among those discussed above for reviewing rent for commercial, industrial and residential-type permits. Since these types of permits are most likely to be affected by changes in the real estate market and economy, this method adequately tracks recent trends in rents. Discussions with local real estate experts such as brokers, property managers, appraisers, and consultants is considered the best way to gain insight and knowledge of local real estate trends. Most major brokerages are fairly active in these real estate segments and would have the market data required for making fairly accurate adjustments to permit rents.

Method 5 makes the most sense for the review of agricultural, pasture, and landscaping-type permits. Because these types of permit rents appear to be relatively stable and less influenced by market fluctuations, staff feels a predetermined schedule of review based on the nature of these permits, in conjunction with Methods 3 and/or Method 4, is appropriate. This would allow staff to dedicate resources to other appraisal needs such as new dispositions and lease reopenings. Since most long-term ground leases contain step-ups or reopenings every ten years, staff recommends that access/utility, parking, community and government, landscaping and recreation permits similarly should be reviewed every 10 years. Past history has shown that agriculture and pasture rents have not been very volatile. Farm price of beef, which has been relatively stable, is more of an influence on pasture rents. Therefore, staff feels periodic review every five years is appropriate for agriculture and pasture permits.

Fee simple residential values have been growing in recent years, however the leasehold market has remained relatively stable. Discussions with appraisers and real estate brokers have indicated that with the influx of fee home and condo construction on the upswing, market participants would still look favorably upon a fee purchase before considering leasehold property. Residential RP's are considered leasehold because the tenants occupy state land. Therefore, staff feels periodic reviews every five years for residential permits is appropriate.

Proposed Methodology

The methodologies summarized below were approved by the Land Board on April 22, 2005, under agenda item D-17, in reviewing RP rents:

Permit Type	Methodology	Reason	Next Scheduled Review
Access/utility easements, Parking	Methods 4 and 5 – Review RP rents once every 10 years, utilizing market interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Permit rents stable.	1/1/2015
Agricultural and Pasture	Methods 4 and 5 - Review RP rents once every 5 years, utilizing market interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Permit rents fairly stable. Cost/benefit ratio justifies.	1/1/2010
Baseyard/Storage; Commercial; Industrial	Methods 3 and 4 – Review RP rents each year based on a review of market indices, interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Detailed, annual market research will ensure rents will reflect market.	Annually
Community; Government	Methods 4 and 5 – Review RP rents once every 10 years, utilizing market interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Permit rents stable.	1/1/2015
Landscaping; Recreational	Methods 4 and 5 – Review RP rents once every 10 years, utilizing market interviews and research to arrive at percentage adjustments, if any.	Permit rents stable. Cost/benefit ratio justifies.	1/1/2015
Residential	Methods 3, 4 and 5 – Review RP rents every 5 years based on a review of market indices, interviews, and	Timely adjustments to rents will track closely to market.	1/1/2010 research to determine whether adjustments are warranted.

The Staff Appraiser should have the discretion to account for specific circumstances and to make adjustments (which will be explained in the appraisals).

In conformance with the Board action on April 22, 2005, staff will focus on the current real estate market trends affecting the commercial and industrial revocable permits, Statewide. The other categories are to be reviewed per the recommended schedule as summarized above. Therefore, for the remaining permits not classified as commercial, industrial, or baseyard/storage, staff is recommending no changes to those permit rents at this time.

RESEARCH:

While conducting staff review of commercial and industrial permit rent, interviews with real estate professionals and research of available market studies were conducted. The trends which were apparent from last year's research appear to be continuing. An assortment of real estate participants were surveyed to gain insight into market rent trends in the commercial and industrial sectors. Market reports on the industrial, office, and retail markets were also researched.

Industrial Sector

According to local real estate appraisers, they all agree that the local industrial market is experiencing a scarcity of inventory, which has carried over from last year and is continuing until more new construction is completed to alleviate the shortage of small to medium-sized lease space. This is indicative of the historically low vacancy rates and the rising land costs of industrial-zoned land. Colliers Monroe Friedlander reports Oahu industrial asking rents at $1.19, an increase of 11% from last year's average of $1.07 per sq. ft. per month. The current industrial rent levels are at their highest since Colliers has begun tracking. Most new industrial projects are asking at least $1.25 per sq. ft. per month or more. Furthermore, the vacancy rate is down to 2.21% as of mid-year. The small to mid-sized industrial space is especially scarce. Similar to last year, any relief will have to come from more industrial space construction which will be somewhat curtailed by high industrial land prices and rising construction costs. The supply of industrial zoned land ready for development continues to be in high demand by investors and owner-users. The increased popularity of the industrial condominium market, which according to the Colliers report is selling above $300 per square foot, is likely to impede speculative multi-tenant developments.

The industry reports indicate industrial land is still appreciating. Colliers reports Campbell industrial land has appreciated by 74% over the past two years. Similarly, Milltown land values have increased by 51% over the same period. Mapunapuna and Airport areas have also experienced significant increases with a 47% appreciation. These reports also urge caution due to a potential stabilization period over the next couple of years resulting from slowing residential home sales, a shortage of workers in an expanding job market, and the rise in construction and fuel costs.

The forecast is for stable and continuing demand for industrial space spurred by the growth in the construction sector, retail expansion, and favorable interest rates. In general, industrial land values and rents are still on the rise while vacancies continue to range in the 2% to 3% range.

Reports from various professionals on the neighbor islands also indicate strong growth in the commercial and industrial market sectors. A Hilo based appraiser has estimated continued industrial rent growth of 3% to 5% per year. West Hawaii is also in a growth mode regarding industrial properties. Similar value appreciation in these sectors was reported from Maui and Kauai. An appraiser based on Maui indicates land values are still healthy. Central Maui is still experiencing rising rents and vacancy between 2% and 4%. West Maui has a very tight industrial market as well with rising land values and vacancy in the 1% to 4% range. The Maui appraiser reports South Maui is still experiencing rising industrial land values and vacancy between 2% and 5%. The limited amount of land available for industrial and commercial development is the main cause of the rising land prices and rents and low vacancies. Some investors are apparently land banking and awaiting lower construction costs.

A Kauai appraiser indicates commercial and industrial rents and land values are still holding at levels from last year but foresees some leveling of growth and stabilization. Properties with good frontage and exposure can still command premium rents. Improved properties have been slightly more marketable due to the high cost of labor, materials and construction.

Research indicates industrial land values and space rents continue to be trending up for the near term. Therefore, staff proposes a 3% increase to be applied to all permits related to industrial and baseyard/storage purposes, with rents to be rounded up to the nearest dollar.

Commercial Sector

Retail and commercial rents also have been increasing, with the Oahu retail sector rents increasing 11.9% from the beginning of 2006 to 2007 and by 16.1% to mid-year 2007 according to the mid-year retail report prepared by Colliers. Asking rental rates had a moderate increase from $3.19 to $3.31 per sq. ft. over the past six months, a 3.7% increase. The vacancy rate increased from a record low 2.12% at the end of 2006 to 3.5% at mid 2007. Retail growth is being limited by the scarcity of retail space and lack of commercial land for development. The Colliers report indicates the growth in the retail sector should continue through 2007, however this could be impeded by rising land costs, higher construction costs, and a labor shortage.

The office market is also experiencing growth as more than 112,525 sq. ft. of Oahu office space has been absorbed since the beginning of the year, lowering vacancy rates to 6.5%, a record low in more than a decade. Since the beginning of the year, Oahu office rents have increased by 2.73% from $2.59 to $2.66 per sq. ft. per month over the previous six months. Similarly, over the past year, average office rents have risen from $2.45 in mid 2006 to $2.66 per sq. ft. per month in mid 2007. Colliers forecasts an end of year net absorption of 100,000 to 150,000 square feet potentially, resulting in a vacancy in the range of 6.0% to 6.5%.

The neighbor islands continue to post strong growth in the commercial and industrial market sectors. The Hilo appraiser active there reports similar strong demand for commercial space with an average of 3% to 5% annual escalations in rent. Maui land values and rents are also trending up in the commercial and office sectors and experiencing low vacancies. Commercial vacancy hovers around 4% to 7% with reports of stabilization in Central and South Maui but continued growth in West Maui.

On Kauai, commercial land values and space rents somewhat follow industrial trends so there is still an apparent upward trend in commercial property sales and rent levels though possibly not at quite the same growth rate as recent years. Vacant commercial land may be somewhat stable or slightly appreciating as well but high construction and labor costs are impeding the escalation of land values somewhat.

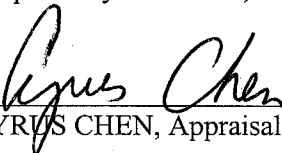

Similar to what is reflected in the industrial market, Staff feels the same rate of increase, i.e. 3%, should also be applied on commercial and office RP's. We have one permit, RP 3528 (Hilton Hawaiian Village), paying base rent plus percentage rent. Staff recommends the proposed increase only be applied to the base rent of RP 3528, but not the individual percentage rent. Rents will be rounded up to the nearest dollar.

RECOMMENDATION:

That the Board approves:

- A. Approve the continuation of the Revocable Permits listed in Exhibit A on a month-to-month basis for another one-year period through December 31, 2008, except for permits that are in arrears of rental payment for more than 60 days and/or have been approved for forfeiture by a separate Board action. Permits in arrears of rental for 60 days or more and/or approved by the Board for forfeiture shall not be renewed.
- B. Approve proposed monthly rent through December 31, 2008 for Revocable Permits as listed in Exhibit A, provided however, that the Land Board reserves the right at any time to review and reestablish new rental charges for any Revocable Permit to reflect market conditions or the fair market rental for the rights and privileges granted by such Revocable Permit.
- C. The rental rate changes shall be effective January 1, 2008.

Respectfully Submitted,

CYRUS CHEN, Appraisal Manager
